Topic: Collaboration between the City and Podcar City Conferences

Podcar City 2019 focuses on cities and their urgent need on making a reality of new modes of public, automated transportation through technology, planning and business opportunities. Through discussions and information exchange, we separate hype from reality and uncover practical solutions which are being investigated today to address real problems. The 2019 conference will be held in San Jose in collaboration with the Mineta Institute, Swedish DOT, SJSU, Advanced Transit Association and several other organizations in USA and Europe.

We propose the following:

We suggest that the City of San Jose uses the Podcar City Conference as a venue for discussion and exchange of information. The conference offers the City to have the entire conference at its location providing there is no cost for the conference. This is a unique opportunity not only to engage the people at City Hall but also the general public, media and academy. We suggest that the City will use the conference as a bridge to not only experts attending but also outreach to the general public and media at the end of the conference November 6. This can be done in a form of a public meeting outside the Rotunda or other similar event with open space for meetings between all parties attending the conference and the general public.
